

Accredited Service

Free, nationwide, NHS commissioned mental health support for children & young people

Welcome

to our KoothTalks information session for parents and carers

What this session will cover

- 1. How Kooth works as a mental health service for young people
- 2. How your child can access our support
- 3. Keeping young people safe
- 4. Tips for parents and carers when talking to children about their feelings

Who are Kooth?

Founded in 2001, Kooth is a trusted NHS partner supporting the nation's children and young people

Local NHS Integrated Care Boards commission us, so that Kooth can provide free mental health support to 11 - 18 year olds across the UK

Kooth is accredited by the leading professional association for members of the counselling professions in the UK All our practitioners are real people, not bots

NHS reported that in 2022 18% of 7-16 year olds in the UK had a probable mental health problem

No problem is ever too big or small at Kooth

If it's on your child's mind, we're here to help.

Some of the feelings or difficulties we support with include:

- Stress
- Anxiety
- Confidence
- Friendships
- Exam pressures
- Eating difficulties

- Loneliness
- Body image concerns
- Anger
- Moving schools
- Social media
- Suicidal thoughts

Kooth provides immediate support

No GP or school referral is needed, there's no waiting list or threshold to meet

Free, 24/7 365 days a year

Note: There could be an hour's wait to get a 1-1 chat, and possibly longer during busy periods. Chats with a practitioner are not 24/7

Our range of support options gives your child control of the support they choose, when they want it

We're anonymous

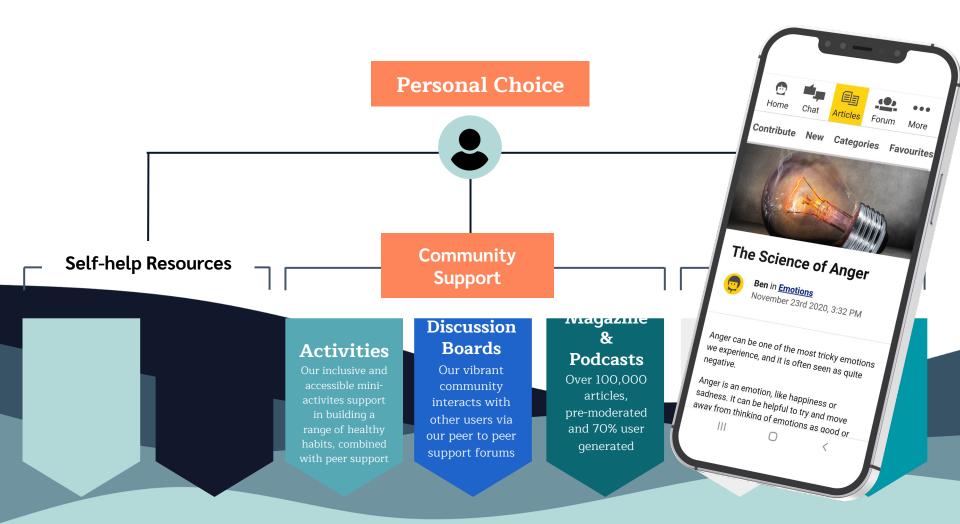

People remain anonymous to protect their privacy, giving them confidence to speak out and access support without stigma or fear of judgement

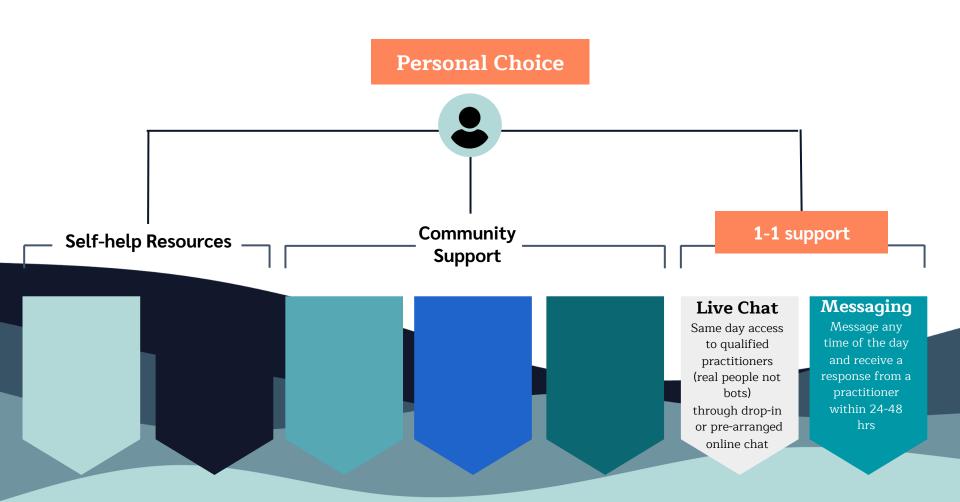

Personal Choice

We offer a full mental health toolkit which gives people the opportunity to choose what kind of support works for them each time they visit

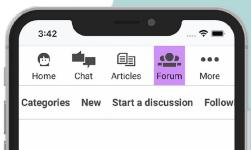

Your child is safe on Kooth

Because our service is anonymous and fully moderated, no bullying, trolling or discrimination can occur and no one can exchange phone numbers or private messages

How do I not take things personally

AnonymousUser123 June 7th 2022

Hello,

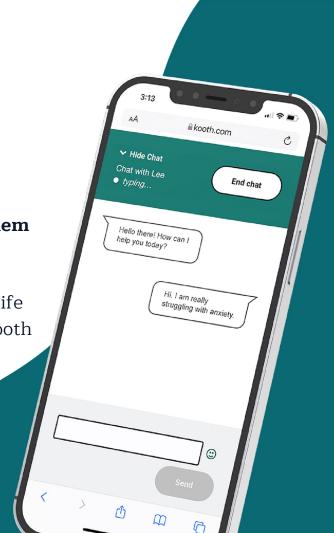

So I had an experience where I was called something quite rude, and like I've taken it so personally like I feel angry and upset about it and I just cannot let it go. Overall in social situations and places I tend to be very shy, quiet and awkward and I rely on positivity to keep me going and If anyone says something, I really take it to heart. even if I know what was said doesn't matter it just does to me. I also seem to really care what other people think or say about me like I constantly worry that people don't like me for x reason even if I haven't done much wrong.

I just wish I wasn't like that. I really wish a was the brave, confident person I want to be but I am just

The first chat session

When young people first come to chat, we will talk with them about:

- Listen and talk to understand more about them and their life
- Explore current difficulties and what's brought them to Kooth
- Discuss together the best way we can support them
- During the conversation we assess level of risk

Safeguarding: our duty of care

- If a young person is considered a risk to themselves or from others, our practitioner will develop a safety plan with the young person
- When their safety is a concern, we ask for personal identification information and their consent to share with external services
- If we feel a young person is in danger we collaborate with emergency services

Kooth is a clinically effective service

- 95% of young people found our community support helpful for their mental health
- 94% would recommend Kooth to a friend
- 77% learnt coping strategies when worried about their mental health

How Kooth works alongside other NHS mental health services

- Support for those who wish to remain anonymous
- Somewhere for them to connect with others who have similar experiences
- Help for your child if they are on the CAMHS waiting list
- Help if your child does not meet thresholds or criteria for other NHS services
- 'Out of hours' support as our practitioners are online until 10pm each night
- Option to try a 1-1 chat session without
 - committing to programme of F2F talking therapy

What prevents young people talking about their mental health?

'I don't want to appear weak'

'I'm nervous about the consequences' 'I'm unsure how to express my emotions'

'I'm fearful I'd be judged' 'I'm too embarrassed' 'I find it hard to trust others' 'I feel too nervous'

Tips on how you can start a conversation

- 1. Is the setting right? Is it the best time? Sometimes talking when you're not face to face can feel less intense perhaps when out walking or in the car together
- 2. Try starting with a simple "How are you?" or "I've noticed you're a bit down/ upset/ angry today, do you want to talk?"
- 3. Try to ask open questions e.g. "Tell me what's worrying you about X" as opposed to "Is X worrying you?" which may only get a one word answer
- 4. Sometimes sharing your own feelings can help e.g. "My day's been really tough because…" then ask "How about you?"
- 5. Listen.... and then acknowledge their feelings
- 6. Ask them what they need from you
- Even if they don't want to talk now, do make the offer again as it may take 2 or 3 invitations before they open up
- 8. Suggest visiting kooth.com if they want to speak to someone neutral

keeth + Rewell

Providing NHS services

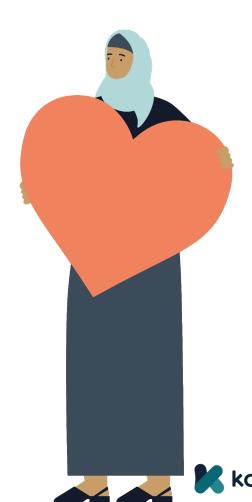

How to talk to your children about their feelings

A guide for parents and carers

www.qwell.io

Just like physical health, our mental health is something we all have and we need to take care of it

Thank you Any questions?

Click here for more information about Kooth

